Gippsland INDIGENOUS ROUND

This document is a starting point for sporting clubs considering holding an Indigenous Round event during 2018. It has been developed by GippSport's Deadly Sport Gippsland team from observations, discussions and involvement in events held during previous years.

There is no right and wrong way to do an Indigenous Round and we encourage clubs to start small in their first year and build to a regular calendar event in future years.

Enjoy the process of organising the day and all that it brings! The most important thing is to have a go and to bring people together to celebrate.

Why run an Indigenous Round?

Indigenous Rounds are a great opportunity to highlight the contribution that Aboriginal and Torres Strait Island people make to sporting clubs and the wider community. They also provide an opportunity to work towards better understanding and reconciliation.

Clubs in past years reported many benefits from their Indigenous Round event, including building stronger relationships with the community, cultural awareness, increasing participation and engagement in club activities as well as increased gate, canteen and bar sales.

It is important that your club is clear about why you are participating in an Indigenous Round and make sure you communicate that with the whole club, including players, coaches, members and spectators.

- ◇ Why is it important for your club to hold an Indigenous Round?
 - Cultural awareness & reconciliation
 - Increasing participation and club involvement
 - Recognising contributions from Aboriginal members

Is your club culturally safe?

Most importantly, before you begin, ensure that your club is culturally safe and welcoming to the Indigenous community. This means ensuring people feel comfortable, connected and valued and importantly they are not subject to any racial discrimination.

To help prepare your club, consider a range of cultural awareness activities prior to hosting your Indigenous Round game.

- ◇ Conduct cultural awareness training for players, coaches, officials and committee.
- ◇ Invite an Elder or respected Aboriginal person to talk to players, coaches and committee.
- ◇ Do you have an Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Flag displayed?
- ◇ Do you have any current Indigenous people involved in the club?
 - If No, why not?
 - If Yes, get them involved with your club event?

Get your club involved

Getting your club involved is important to your success and will ensure people know why you are doing the event, why it is important, and how it will benefit the club and the community.

- ◇ Invite key players, coaches, committee, officials & supporters to be part of the planning.
- ◇ Provide good communication to your club so people know what is happening and why.
- ◇ Invite current and past Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander players and/or members, officials and committee to have an active part in the event.
- ◇ Ensure all teams across your club have opportunity to be involved in the celebrations (Juniors & Seniors, Men & Women etc.).

Advise the League and / or Association

It is important to work with your League or Association before getting too far into planning your event to ensure they support the concept and can help you with any logistics.

- ◇ Advise league of all game day activities.
- ◇ Participate in any League-wide promotion of an Indigenous Round / games.
- ◇ Invite League Officials to be guests on the day.
- ◇ Advise opposition club of activities and invite them to be active participants. This is a great opportunity to recognise any Aboriginal players from both clubs and potentially good story for media.

PERMISSION MAY BE REQUIRED FOR:

- ◇ Change of game time: your club may need to allow time for Ceremonies and activities between or before games or to allow all teams to come together in a central location at your venue.
- ◇ Wearing of Aboriginal designed uniforms and / or use of alternative game ball.

Engaging the Aboriginal Community

It is important to liaise with local Indigenous community from the beginning and continue to liaise throughout the planning phase.

- ◇ Identify and invite any local Aboriginal organisations to be involved in planning and running activities on the day.
- ◇ Request input and seek advise on cultural activities and ceremonies.
- ◇ Use

Be organised

Being organised will help the event run smoothly and for everybody to know what their role is for the day.

- ◇ Consider an action plan for key tasks in the lead up to the game.
- ◇ Develop a running sheet with clear times, designated roles and any impacts on teams, such as game times, warm-up periods and attendance at ceremonies.
- ◇ Circulate to League, Association, Game Officials, Opposition Club and all Coaches / team officials with plenty of notice.

Start simple

Events don't need to be huge and in fact a simple ceremony that connects people together may be all that is needed and provides a starting place for future events. It doesn't need to be over-complicated or cost a lot for your club to hold an Indigenous Round.

- ◇ Flag raising ceremony at beginning of day.
- ◇ A Welcome to Country by an Elder or an Acknowledgement* by a club official / community member
- ◇ Speech about what the day means to the club and recognise any current or past Aboriginal players, committee, officials or members.

* Anybody can do an Acknowledgement to Country and if a local Elder can not be found or is unavailable, a Club President, Coach, Player may be able to do the following sample Acknowledgement to Country:

I would like to acknowledge the Traditional Custodians of the land on which we meet today, and pay my respects to the Elders past, present, future and in attendance today.

Promote your Day

- ◇ Distribute posters, flyers and invitations prior to the game.
- ◇ Post messages on the clubs website and social media.
- ◇ Notify the media; utilise any opportunities to promote the game, cultural activities and feature any Indigenous players at the club (past or present) or your opposition.
- ◇ Link to other NAIDOC events to help promote game and build a week of celebration within the community.
- ◇ Invite Elders and any Aboriginal community members and groups.
- ◇ Consider distributing free tickets to key Aboriginal groups.

What more can your club do?

◇ Uniforms & merchandise

- ◇ Local Aboriginal designed uniforms, bibs or socks (check League / Association approval).
- ◇ Cheaper alternative is using Black, Yellow & Red tape for arm bands.
- ◇ Organise polo shirts for Committee and game day officials / organisers.

- ◇ Match ball – can you use an Indigenous designed ball? (Check availability and League approval).
- ◇ Sell polo's to public or make available through a pre-order system.
- ◇ Auction player Uniforms after the game.

2016/17 Indigenous Round Events

Congratulations to all clubs who have held an Indigenous Round event (or more) in the past few years.

Of those events we were aware of in 2016, all were unique. They reflected the commitment of the club and the relationship they had with the local Aboriginal community.

For some clubs it was the beginning of a new relationship, while for others it was a celebration of the great work already achieved and an opportunity to showcase this to the wider community.

While events were often driven by a key person at the club, most had significant involvement from the local Aboriginal community in planning and running the day.

Events varied in size but all had a great impact on their club and the local community. They recognised the Aboriginal contribution to their club and their willingness to be recognised as welcoming and inclusive clubs. Many events also attracted local media attention.

Most game days were inclusive across the entire club, with the best including juniors and seniors in a huge ceremony during the day.

Welcome to Country and Smoking Ceremonies were featured at most games, while other activities included flag raising, cultural dancers, music, traditional foods, entertainment and local art.

Some clubs accessed Grants and Sponsorship, while other clubs utilised internal funds to support their activities on the day.

We hope this document will help encourage other clubs, associations and leagues to consider holding an Indigenous Round in 2017.

To our knowledge, the following clubs participated in an indigenous Round during 2016. These club contacts have expressed willingness to discuss how their club got involved, what the benefits have been, what the challenges were and their plans for 2017. Please feel free to contact them for more information.

Aboriginal Contact List

Engaging with your local Aboriginal community is important to making your day an inclusive celebration of culture and community.

The best place to start making contacts is with your current and past players, as they may be able to identify key Aboriginal community members and have direct links with Elders that could be involved in your day.

Below is a list of Aboriginal organisations that you may like to also contact as part of your consultation and planning.

This list is not exhaustive, but provides a starting point for your conversations. More information can also be found on the Gippsland Black Pages at <http://www.gphn.org.au/resources/blackpages/>
